To celebrate education abroad during the U.S. State Department’s International Education Week, we invite you to come, listen, and learn directly from students about their experiences learning and living abroad.

Learn how students’ experiences have helped lead to academic success as well as understanding how to better encourage students to study abroad and navigate the study abroad system.

In addition to a student panel you will hear from UA Education Abroad Advisors as well as how the State Department funded IDEAS program is aiming to increase study abroad advocacy and knowledge among student advisors.

This program is sponsored by: College of Arts and Sciences’ Capacity Building program for U.S. Study Abroad IDEAS program, the College of Arts and Sciences new ICUE Center, and UA Education Abroad.

This event was funded in part by a grant from the United States Department of State. The opinions, findings, and conclusions stated herein are those of the authors and do not necessarily reflect those of the United States Department of State.
